Winning Victoria Chamber of Commerce Tri-Services challenge shield as best cadet corps performing sunset ceremonies this summer is worth blowing a bugle about, says PO Don Bendall of victorious Royal Canadian Sea Cadet Corps (Rainbow). ## Truman Says:

'Can't Run Nation From Golf Course'

GARY, Ind. (AP)—Former president Truman said Thursday night that President Eisenhower was "a part-time president even before he got sick."

In a campaign speech for Democratic presidential candidate Adlai Stevenson, the former president said he knows the demands of the office.

"It is five or six jobs, rolled into one and each is time-consuming, and critical and essential to the conduct of the government," he said.

"There is only one way to do all these jobs and that is to keep everlastingly at them. I worked at them 16 hours a day. So this is not a part time job. It can't be run from a golf course or handled by a part-time farmer. The people are thinking about this and they are worried. . . . They wonder whether he can withstand the exacting demands of the presidency. They wonder who would control the next administration if Mr. Eisenhower were re-elected. They think of Mr. Nixon and are frightened at the possibility of turning the government over to him. This is something to be frightened about, for remember this and remember it well: You cannot elect Ike without electing tricky Dicky."

$290,000 for Village

Sikh's Riches Go Home

CALGARY (CP)—A 72-year-old Sikh farmer who has struck rich in real estate speculation plans to contribute all the money, $290,000, to his home village in India. Harnam Singh Hari is giving the money to the village of Ranika in India's Punjab country to construct a school, hospital, library and animal clinic. He bought land around Calgary for prices ranging from $50 to $75 an acre and sold it recently for $1,500 to $3,000 an acre, netting $290,000.

Lost Hiker

Hopes Rated Zero

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP)—Searchers were to renew the hunt today for a man lost since Sunday on storm-lashed Mount Seymour although his chances of survival were considered "almost zero."

Alex Patterson, 24, is the only member of an ill-fated three-man hiking party still unaccounted for. The body of Gordon McFarlane, 27, was found Thursday and Robert Duncan, 23, reached safety by himself Wednesday.

The three, all of whom came from Scotland within the last three years, ran into trouble on the mist-shrouded mountain while they were out for a Sunday hike.

DEATH REPORTED

Duncan, who managed to find his way to safety although suffering from exposure, reported the death of McFarlane.

The body was found yesterday by searchers headed by William Angus, chief inspector of the Greater Vancouver Water Board. It was to be brought out today.

The party pressed on to the spot where Duncan had left the exhausted Patterson in a cave under a blanket of leaves. But the man had disappeared and searchers speculated that he had wandered away in hopes of getting down from the mountain.

"His chances aren't good, in fact they're almost zero," said Mr. Angus. "He had only light clothing, no food and wasn't able to light a fire to keep warm."

Mr. Angus said his party encountered "thunderstorms, a terrific hailstorm and rainstorms. We were freezing cold so what chance would Patterson have after five days?"

Duncan, in hospital here suffering from shock and exposure, said they tried to start a fire by lighting a $5 bill with a cigarette lighter but it failed, as had previous attempts with damp leaves and twigs.

McFarlane, he recalled, left their shelter suddenly, "mumbled a few words about getting back to his wife, and started down the mountain alone Monday morning."

Three Killed

'Scene of Horror' Follows Gas Blast

HERRIN, Ill. (AP)—An explosion at a bottled gas depot Thursday night killed at least three persons and seriously burned 10 others as it ripped through five homes.

The dead are Mrs. Violet Williams, 33, her son, Freddie, 3, and Charlotte Jarvis, 11. Charlotte's twin sister was among those injured.

A physician at Herrin Hospital said there are a lot of them who won't be able to do anything for. The situation in the hospital's emergency operating room was described by one doctor as "horrible."

Some of those injured suffered burns over 80 per cent of their bodies.

Window Cleaner's Nightmare

Dangling helplessly from one end of his safety belt after the other end broke, window cleaner Ronald Robertson looks down on a Toronto street 118 feet below. A half-inch strand of wire in the belt held him for five terrifying minutes until other window cleaners pulled him to safety. (CP)

French Seize Ship

Egypt Sends Arms To Algeria Rebels

ORAN, Algeria (CP)—French authorities charged Thursday that $2,000,000 worth of arms they captured on the yacht Athos was loaded at Alexandria by Egyptian army volunteers and was destined for Algerian rebels.

One official said the seizure shows clearly the support Egypt is giving the nationalist insurgents.

The 400-ton Athos, which the French said once was a minesweeper with the Canadian navy, was reported to have been intercepted Wednesday by the French.

French escort vessel Commandant de Plomodon off the port of Nemours, Western Algeria.

NO NATIONAL FLAG

An Admiralty spokesman in Paris said the Athos was flying no national flag when intercepted.

The French unloaded 70 tons of arms, including 1,000 rifles, new British Bren guns, 500 late-model Italian machine-pistols, 30 Canadian mortars and 1,000 cases of grenades and ammunition. There were also some German light machine-guns and Dutch and Belgian weapons, the French said.

Drop That Kite!

Persons who think laws are becoming more restrictive all the time aren't right in every respect.

John Lort, chief librarian of the Victoria Public Library, was looking through the city's annual report for 1892 the other day and came across a fire-prevention-by-law clause of that year that amused him: "No person shall raise or fly a kite in the city of Victoria."

But a check at city hall showed that the fire-prevention-by-law was liberalized in this connection in 1949.

Kite-flying in general is still prohibited in the city, but there is an exception: Victorians may fly kites in public parks.

To Visit Ladysmith, Mesachie Lake Today

By ALEC MERRIMAN
Colonist Staff Reporter

NANAIMO—G. M. Orlov, Russian minister of forest industries, arrived here last night eager to see Vancouver Island's mechanized logging practices and yawning he would travel to the moon to see logging operations if there were any there.

The boss of Russia's timber empire said the hospitality shown his party on its current tour of Canada has been splendid.

He said he hopes to invite more Canadian lumbermen to his own country so that he will have a chance to extend hospitality of an equally warm nature.

The Russian minister speaks very little English and expressed himself through a battery of interpreters.

He arrived here with a party of eight Russian officials and 18 representatives of the Canadian lumber industry.

TO VIEW AREAS

The Russians will inspect the log dump and booming grounds of Comox Logging and Railway Co. at Ladysmith this morning and move on to Mesachie Lake to see Hillcrest Lumber Co. Ltd. operations in the afternoon.

The provincial government will entertain the Russians at a dinner at the Empress Hotel in Victoria tonight.

The party will visit the B.C. Forest Service experimental station at Cowichan Lake tomorrow morning and Harmac pulp mill at Nanaimo in the afternoon.

Bulletins

OTTAWA (CP)—The Israeli government has signed a contract with Canadian Ltd. of Montreal for the purchase of 24 Sabre jet fighter planes. It was learned Thursday. The total price is around $7,500,000, including spare parts.

FARGO, N.D. (AP)—Six children, aged 6 to 15 were orphaned Thursday when Mr. and Mrs. Thorvald Vee died of gunshot wounds on a street here. Police say the father shot his wife who had filed for divorce Monday, then took his own life as one of their children watched in terror.

LONDON (Reuters)—A British research body Thursday condemned the traditional ships lifeboat as an unsafe means of escaping a sinking vessel and urged scientists to tackle the task of redesigning them.

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—President Eisenhower was greeted by a crowd estimated at more than 100,000 here Thursday. "America took a darn sight better than they did four years ago. I'm glad to see you looking so good," the president said.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Hearing of a slander action taken by Robert Sommers, former British Columbia lands and forests minister, against Vancouver lawyer David Sturdy, will start in supreme court here Jan. 8, 1957.

AMMAN, Jordan (Reuters)—RAF jet fighters began arriving here today for what the British embassy described as routine visits of about a week.

'Most Embarrassing'

Church Makes Killing In Stock Market Coup

LONDON (AP)—The Church of England found itself Thursday with an embarrassment of riches. It made almost $500,000 in the kind of coup most investors can only dream of. Sir Malcolm Eves, chairman of the church properties and finance commission, said it bought stock last summer in Trinidad Oil, expecting a yield of little more than 3 per cent. Then the Texas Company bought out Trinidad, nearly doubling the stock's value. The church's profit was $160,000. Eves called this "a most embarrassing thing" because the church might be suspected of speculating. Now, he said, the commission wants to invest the money in a good, reliable company producing a steady income.

ELVIS PRESLEY

Faces Charges

Elvis Wins But Police Won't Cheer

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Teen-age idol Elvis Presley engaged in a fast fistfight with a service station manager Thursday, leaving the latter with a black eye that "looked like a travelling bag."

Presley, manager Ed Hopper, pressing fans. Huff said Hopper then slapped Presley on the back of the head and said:

"I said move on." Huff said Presley, six foot one a . 185 pounds, leaped from the car and jolted Hopper (5-10, 175) with a right that cut a half inch gash at the corner of his left eye. He said the eye "looked like a travelling bag."

A nearby policeman and a bystander moved in and broke up the flurry. Attendant Aubrey Brown, 21, 6-4 and 220 pounds, came bustling out of the station and also drew a Presley fist which resulted in a swollen jaw. Presley escaped with a small scratch.

Presley, fuming in the clutches of a witness, Harvey Huff, told police that Presley, seated in the car signing autographs, agreed to ridicule and slander, but when a move on but delayed to oblige him, that's too much."

U.K. Reshuffle

Eden Gives Head Key Defence Post

LONDON (CP)—Britain shook up her troubled military establishment yesterday, elevating War Secretary Anthony Head to the post of defence minister.

Head succeeds Sir Walter Monckton, who was named paymaster general. Monckton remains in the cabinet although without a specific department.

John Hugh Hare, minister of state for colonial affairs, was named to succeed Head as war secretary.

The shuffle of offices was completed by the appointment of John Scott MacLay, a Conservative member of Parliament, as colonial minister of state. The new defence minister, whose appointment gives him overall supervision of the navy, air and war departments and the ministry of supply, was a brigadier in the British Army in the Second World War.

Head has become something of a focal point for complaints that reservists called up during troops coming home on leave.

'Red' Soldier Stirs Unrest

LONDON (Reuters)—The war office took the unusual step Thursday night of naming a soldier as an "active Communist" and saying he tried to organize a mass protest among that reservists called up during troops coming home on leave.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

RATHER like an elderly ram addressing an audience of wolves, C. D. Howe asks American industrialists to be kind to Canada.

He travelled to Chicago recently and pleaded with United States corporations to allow Canadians a bigger share in Canadian resources.

He asked U.S. investors to open more of their branch operations in Canada to Canadian investors and managers; urged parent companies to let Canadian branch plants handle more export business, and report fully to Canadians on their financial operations.

He thus became the first Canadian minister of state to enter a foreign country with hat in hand and mildly suggest that foreign industrialists let us keep some of Canada for ourselves.

The financiers must have giggled into their soup at this humble request, because it was not backed by any show of strength. Mr. Howe hoped that Canada never would impose rigid laws controlling foreign enterprise, but said it would be "good business" for a Canadian subsidiary of a foreign company "to become as Canadian as it can."

In other words: "We're glad to see so many of you wolves in the fold, but some of us sheep are worried. We'd feel a lot happier if you would put on wool coats."

As he spoke, United States corporations were devouring Canadian resources as fast as they could chew and digest them.

According to an article called "The Conquest of Canada," in the Oct. 6 number of the "Nation" magazine, American capital now controls an estimated 95 per cent of the Canadian petroleum industry, 75 per cent of mining and 57 per cent of manufacturing.

Evidence before the Gordon Commission on Canada's economic prospects showed that many American firms won't sell shares of their Canadian subsidiaries to Canadians; many bring in American technicians and managers, elbowing Canadians out of key jobs; won't allow their branch plants to handle export orders.

Mr. Howe uttered some friendly bleats of protest and urged the Americans to sell us a little stock, hire some Canadian managers, let branch plants take on more export business and behave more "like good, solid Canadian enterprises."

He also mentioned that Americans were shipping out trainloads of raw materials from Canada while placing high tariffs against imports of Canadian manufactured goods. However, he seemed to feel that if he spoke nicely to the Americans, they would stop being such naughty boys.

The chances that they will do as Mr. Howe says are remote.

The Nation has this to say about American investment in Canada: "Though American investors last year collected nearly $30,000,000 in dividends in Canada, most American subsidiaries in this country would not sell stock to Canadians, would not employ Canadian directors, and often would not even hire Canadian managers."

In some cases, true enough, American firms have tried to market stock in Canada, and failed to raise the capital they needed. But how much has the Canadian government done to encourage the sale of stock to Canadians?

Many Canadians would like to see a law that required a certain percentage of stock to be held by Canadians, and required that more than 50 per cent of directors be Canadian citizens.

Unless some action of this kind is taken soon, Canada will soon be a Yankee dollar colony.

Greengage Jam Breakfast Treat

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

In our house, our favorite breakfast jam is greengage. As a substitute for marmalade on hot buttered toast, its flavor is slightly tart and refreshing, quite unlike ordinary plum jam, and in consequence, we put up quite a few jars of it in season. Incidentally, this plum has quite an interesting history. Botanists consider it to be the connecting link between the damson and the ordinary plum, and it is probable that it originated in Armenia, gradually extending its fascinating flavor into Greece, Italy, France, England, and finally into this continent.

It arrived in France in 1503, during the reign of Francis I, where it was christened "La Reine Claude" after the French queen. The fruit is still sold under this name on the continent, although in English-speaking countries it has become known as the greengage.

It takes its name from the Gage family of Hengrave Hall, Bury St. Edmunds, in the county of Suffolk. Sir Thomas Gage, had a brother, John, in the monastery of the Charterhouse in Paris—a monastery known far and wide for its fine orchard.

One day a messenger arrived in Bury St. Edmunds with a gift parcel of fruit tree seedlings from Brother John in Paris. All the little trees were carefully labelled except one, and from this one the greengage had fallen off and become lost. At a loss to know what he could call this anonymous tree, Sir Thomas decided to use his own name, and modestly chose the family title, Gage. It is from this one tree, in the orchard of Hengrave Hall that all our greengage trees have descended.

TWO PLUMS

In ordering trees from a nursery, it is well to keep in mind that there are two gage plums, Bay's Gage and Green Gage. Bay's Gage is a bigger plum, and comes into bearing a little later than Green Gage, usually in late September, while Green Gage is at its best towards the end of August. Bay's Gage is a grand plum for eating out of hand, but it doesn't make the jam with the characteristic Green Gage flavor.

ANOTHER DIFFERENCE

There is another important difference between the two gage plums. Bay's Gage, sometimes sold under the name of Reine Claude de Bay, will set a good crop even though you have only one tree, while the true Greengage requires another variety nearby which blossoms at the same time. The Victoria plum makes a good husband for Green Gage.

Two-year-old trees, around five feet in height, should cost in the neighborhood of $3 each. Such trees will start bearing in their 5th or 6th year, and will average around 40 pounds of fruit at first, gradually rising, as the tree becomes bigger, to around 120 pounds.

High-Level Parley Due

$18,549,000 PGE Subsidy To Be Asked of Ottawa

British Columbia will drop its request that the federal government assume half the cost of the PGE railway and will ask instead for an $18,549,000 subsidy, Premier W. A. C. Bennett announced yesterday.

This subsidy, he said, would be based "on the principle of $25,000 a mile that the federal government has established" after granting such an amount to a railway in Quebec for a 30-mile distance.

Mr. Bennett, Deputy Finance Minister J. V. Fisher and other B.C. officials will meet Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent and Finance Minister, Walter Harris in Ottawa late next month to discuss tax rental, the PGE and other matters.

PGE mileage from Vancouver to the Peace River, said the premier, was 791.1, which at $25,000 a mile would provide $19,770,500. From this would be deducted the $1,228,500 subsidy granted some years ago for the extension from Prince George to Quesnel.

SHOULD BE PAID

"No subsidy (for the full length of the road) was paid originally," said the premier. "Now that it's being rebuilt, this is the time it should be paid."

Original request of a 50-50 share of costs would have meant a federal outlay of between $60,000,000 and $70,000,000, while the federal offer of a subsidy for the extensions only would have brought B.C. a maximum of $1,250,000.

The premier said B.C. will again press next month for "a public investment policy in our highways."

He said he "may have" some specific proposals.

Fuzzy Thinking Laid to Ottawa

Premier W. A. C. Bennett took the Bank of Canada to task yesterday for "very peculiar financial thinking," and at the same time charged the Liberal government with "deliberately trying to force unemployment this winter in Canada."

His remarks followed the Bank's announcement Wednesday that the discount rate had been raised for the sixth time in 15 months, this time to 3½ per cent, apparently as an effort to restrict borrowing.

In the Colonist's report of the increase, a Victoria investment broker was quoted as saying there "just isn't enough money to go round all the things that Canadians want to do."

FUZZY THINKING

Said the premier: "There is the fouziest financial thinking you could possibly imagine."

"They're saying not enough money is available when we're in a period of inflation, a period of too much money and too little goods," he said. "If they had said we haven't got enough manpower or materials, that would be all right."

rented accommodation, "so rents will go up."

"Their policies are really inflationary," the premier said.

He hedged when asked if the provincial government would make loans for dwelling construction, pointing out that "we have no power to affect interest rates."

America, "inventories are at an all-time high."

"I charge the present federal Liberal government with deliberately trying to force unemployment this winter in Canada," he said.

TIGHTENING IS BAD

Tightening of credit, said the premier, will mean fewer sales, which in turn will mean reduced production, which in turn will force unemployment.

"The timing is bad, right at the start of winter," he said. "It's financial foolishness."

He went on to claim that credit cuts will hit the prospective home builders first. There will be greater demand for

Three Share Nobel

STOCKHOLM (AP)—A German doctor who probed his own heart will share this year's Nobel Prize for medicine with two U.S. doctors who developed his idea into a new method of diagnosing heart disease. The award was announced Thursday.

The German is 52-year-old Dr. Werner Forssmann. In 1929 he introduced a catheter, a slender plastic tubular probe, into his left forearm, and passed its 26-inch length through a blood vessel until it had entered the right side of his heart.

The Americans are French-born Andre F. Cournand, 61, and Dickinson W. Richards, Jr., 60, both of Columbia University, New York.

They were recognized for their part in developing the technique of "heart catheterization" to measure pressure and flow in various parts of the heart and blood vessels, and to inject contrasting chemicals to see heart defects on an X-ray screen.

The three doctors share a $38,633 prize provided in the will of Alfred Nobel, the Swedish inventor of dynamite.

Yarrows Union Charges Raiding

A newly-formed Vancouver local of an international union was strongly denounced yesterday for raiding a union at Yarrows Ltd.

Donald Douglas, head of the Shipwrights, Joiners and Wood Caulkers' Industrial Union, Local 9, charged his union had been raided.

Heat and Frost Insulators, Local 118, has applied for certification for 26 ladders and asbestos workers at the Esquimalt shipyard.

"We deplore such interference in the ranks of organized labor, especially when there is so much work to be done among the unorganized," Mr. Douglas said.

An organizer from the Vancouver local, at Yarrows last week, said he was attempting to set up a sub-local there, under orders from his AFL international president, Mr. Douglas said.

"I question the right of any international to interfere in a Canadian union," he said.

Mr. Douglas said he had protested the raiding to Donald

This is one of the reasons behind the dispatch of a three-man Canadian fact-finding mission to Morocco and Tunisia, two newly independent North African countries which Canada formally recognized June 19.

The mission was scheduled to leave Paris Thursday for a two-week tour. It comprised officials of the immigration, trade and external affairs departments.

The immigration department already has on file applications from French-speaking residents of Tunisia, Algeria and Morocco for entry into Canada. The number applications is growing as civil war continues between France and the Algerian rebels.

It is hoped that the mission will be able to make arrangements to deal speedily with requests from North Africans who want to settle in Canada.

One official said the French settlers in North Africa would not necessarily choose to live in Quebec if admitted to Canada. Many still considered themselves pioneers and might be more likely to settle, say, in the Peace River district.

The drive for French immigrants from North Africa may help to ease Canada's shortage of farm labor. Many of the would-be immigrants are farmers, though not the majority.

Immigration hit the skids last year, dropping more than 30 per cent from the 154,000 in 1954. However, it picked up somewhat in the first half of 1956 when 69,924 persons were admitted compared with 58,417 in the first six months of 1955.

In 1955, only 2,225 French immigrants entered Canada compared with 30,150 British, 18,082 German, 20,247 Italian, 6,929 Dutch, 3,014 Greek and 2,575 Chinese.

District Rotary Chief Lauds Leadership of City Group

Victoria's Rotary Club "stands out in Rotary International because of the men who have been in its midst for many years and the type of leadership it has given," the club was told yesterday by district governor Warren E. Kraft of Seattle.

The governor spoke to the club on Rotary policy—"The district governor doesn't tell clubs what to do; he suggests some matters of policy and leaves the details to be worked out to fit local circumstances."

Paul Lang, international president of Rotary, had three targets this year, he said: to keep Rotary simple, to encourage "more Rotary in Rotarians," and to know one another better.

"I think the president feels that in the years that Rotary has been growing (and it is growing at the rate of one new club a day throughout the world) some of the fundamentals tend, maybe, to be forgotten, and forms and formalities developed."

RAPID GROWTH

"The simple heart" of Rotary, Mr. Kraft said, was the ideal of service. The individual Rotarian should think a little more in terms of checking up on himself to see if he exemplifies Rotary ideals.

B.C. Road Death Toll Worrying Premier

Premier W. A. C. Bennett, "very alarmed" at the mounting traffic death toll in B.C., said yesterday that the cabinet will consider possibility of calling a province-wide safety conference.

He also talked of a special enforcement branch for traffic violators, more rigid enforcement of penalties, wider use of safety belts and installation of white crosses at the sites of fatal accidents.

"THINK OF SAFETY"

But the important thing, said the premier, is to "make people think of safety."

"A safety conference may be a good idea," he said. "Perhaps these accidents should be investigated further as to their causes."

Premier Bennett conceded that special highway enforcement "might be necessary," but after all, we don't want a police state.

"Each individual must realize the problem more," he said. "I think more rigid enforcement of penalties and cancellation of licences are the things."

SAFETY BELTS

Safety belts, which the premier uses in the front seat of his car, "won't do it in themselves, but they make people think of safety."

He mentioned white crosses at fatal accident scenes in California and said they are very effective.

"We've asked the different departments to tighten up."

he said. "But what we need most is more local co-operation, from organizations and from individuals."

Joint Civic Offices

IT would be a pity if disagreement over the choice of a site—one of the last factors in the case—were to block earnest consideration of the practical proposal that Victoria City and Saanich save some money and do each other a mutual good turn by combining new and much needed municipal headquarters. Leaving the issue of a site aside—and there might be plenty of possible sites between downtown and Royal Oak—here is a progressive idea. If their ratepayers are willing, there is no reason why the City and Saanich should not pool their resources to achieve new accommodation, especially with construction and property costs what they are today.

There is no suggestion in the underlying proposal that the City or Saanich should lose one iota of identity or autonomy in the step. The fact is that both municipalities have outgrown their present office set-ups. Instead of going off into separate corners, the idea is that they combine forces for this single purpose and together build new offices with ample accommodation for both. Assume that that were done, from that day forward Victoria and Saanich would grow in understanding of each other and be in the best position to help one another in a host of other ways. If one believes that some day—however distant—amalgamation will be the only solution in a rapidly growing community, here at least would be a useful and practical study of its benefits at first hand.

One wonders sometimes if regional planning has come early enough to the southern end of Vancouver Island, or if indeed it will be followed now that the machinery for it is in operation. One by one, Victoria City has sold most of the properties that were on its books; including a key-piece on Douglas Street which would have combined well with its other holdings at the City Hall, Market Building, fire and police headquarters. That ended, probably forever, the old dream of developing Pandora Avenue as a ceremonial avenue leading to a corporate civic centre. Nor are there many city-owned properties remaining which might serve even for a city hall.

The Topaz Avenue site mentioned is probably the best of these; the City owns it all, and it no doubt could be made to serve economically the needs of a joint undertaking with Saanich. The other site in the city mentioned, at the top of Hillside Avenue, is in private hands; it has a building already on it, and might involve considerable construction cost by reason of the outcrop of rock which features the hill site.

The site, however, is one of the last problems which need claim attention at this time. Are the City and Saanich willing to go together in a joint construction enterprise which could benefit both? The municipal elections are approaching, and their respective ratepayers could be polled on that question. Town-planners might then logically be expected to suggest a suitable site.

To Ban or Not to Ban

MR. ADLAI STEVENSON has certainly gingered up the U.S. presidential campaign by his interjection of the hydrogen bomb issue. If elected, he says, he will move to ban all future tests, on the grounds that radioactive fall-out presents an ever-increasing danger and that continual testing by rival nations is equivalent to an armaments race that might invite war. Since this puts him in sharp conflict with President Eisenhower, who says that while Russia carries on a testing program the U.S. must do likewise, the issue and its public appeal might easily be the determining factor in next month's election.

Unfortunately the climate now surrounding this question is purely polemic for vote-catching purposes and there will be little calm appraisal of the situation. For example the technical experts have rushed into the verbal fray, but since they line up on both sides, Democratic and Republican, they cancel out each other's opinion. Russia naturally has jumped in with a renewal of its offer to cease hydrogen bomb experiments, but since its offer is dependent on there being no conditions attached and the Soviet word ranks far below its face value, this counts for little. The Eisenhower view is that unless there can be a system of inspection to see that no bomb-making nation double-crosses another, continued testing on an even larger scale must go on.

For the moment at least nothing will emerge from the argument but hot party propaganda, much as everyone is likely secretly to applaud any progress towards the elimination of H-bombs. One might wonder at the need for continued experiment—an enormously expensive affair—if in fact the U.S., or the Soviet Union also for that matter, has already in stock sufficient bombs to blow the world to smithereens. If this is not deterrent enough it is difficult to see what might be. The point of superfluity in armaments can surely be reached, in which case a vast amount of money could be released to apply to the development of counter-bomb measures. It is scarcely likely that detective and protective devices have reached their uttermost fruition and with the priority hitherto given to bomb making perhaps this field has been insufficiently explored. Once the presidential election is over, however, no matter whom the White House incumbent may be, perhaps something worthwhile may yet be accomplished towards the control of lethal hydrogen power. All sensible people will hope so.

Is Protection Adequate?

CONSIDERATION by the Alberta government of measures to require motorists to carry more public liability insurance than the minimum now permitted under the "pink slip" system is of interest in this province. Highway Minister Taylor of Alberta says the government inclines to share the belief of insurance companies that the present legal minimum coverage should be doubled with respect to personal injury and multiplied by five in the case of property damage insurance.

Manitoba, British Columbia and Alberta all have semi-compulsory automobile insurance systems in operation. Manitoba, however, recently doubled its financial responsibility requirement, and the minimum coverage which an owner must now be able to show in order to avoid having his car impounded after an accident is $10,000 against injury to one person, $20,000 for two or more, and $5,000 for damage to property. In this province and Alberta the legal requirements remain at $5,000, $10,000 and $1,000.

Arguments being used in favor of raising the requirements in Alberta could be applied with equal weight in British Columbia. Settlements out of court and more substantial awards by the courts to injured persons tend to support the belief that the present minimum coverage affords insufficient safeguards. As for the $1,000 property damage figure, there have been numerous accidents in which that amount would only begin to cover repair bills incurred by drivers held responsible. Many prudent car owners here, and no doubt elsewhere, annually take out much higher coverage for their own protection as well as that of the public, but the majority are satisfied with the minimum rates which the financial responsibility statute allows. Reconsideration of the requirements now appears to be opportune.

Interpreting the News

Canada Suggested UN Control

By RONALD A. NICKERSON
British United Press Correspondent

OTTAWA—The Suez impasse has illustrated Canada's long-standing contention that the Western allies should hold prior consultations on matters of major and mutual concern, diplomatic sources said today.

This country showed no hesitation in backing the 13-nation proposals drafted in London during August for a peaceful settlement of the Suez crisis. The Canadian government was fully in sympathy with the view of the canal users that it must be operated efficiently and impartially in the interest of all states.

Canada regarded Egypt's seizure of the canal as an arbitrary move putting in jeopardy the right to use of the international waterway in peace and war without discrimination. Canada's thinking from the beginning was that the canal must be kept free from political interference on the part of any state.

The Canadian government went on record as supporting the principle of international control for the canal. Canada wanted, and still wants, to see those countries having the greatest interest in the canal's operation sharing in that international control.

Canada would prefer to see that control exercised, if at all, under the aegis of the United Nations. This country, therefore, was highly gratified when the problem was referred to the United Nations, sources here said.

From the eruption of the dispute, many Canadians besides those in government could see at least a modicum of right on the side of Egypt—External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson told a news conference Aug. 30. "We understand the desire of Egypt to safeguard its sovereignty and its national dignity."

The main principle on which agreement was reached at the UN meetings in New York was that "operation of the canal should be insulated from the politics of any country." Canadian government leaders were saying that more than two months ago.

The hope here is that Egypt will, in future talks, offer something to implement the "political insulation" principle. Canadian sources saw reason for some optimism in the fact that the UN meetings did induce Egypt to put its name to the concept of an internationally controlled canal.

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes—and ships—and sailing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

LIKE father like son, they say, but not always. Page Randolph Churchill as Beverly Baxter depicts him in a recent issue of Maclean's.

Sir Anthony Eden was the elder Churchill's heir; he is the younger Churchill's chief target for a pen dipped in venom.

Cast out by the Conservative hierarchy from the list of available candidates, the latter has adopted the pose of Coriolanus, who when banished from Rome, declared: "Rome banishes me? I banish Rome."

And as a political writer, I gather, rudeness is his middle name and not Spencer.

Three years ago Randolph showed yours truly to his seat in the Abbey for the Coronation dress rehearsal. He was a gold stick officer (usher) and looked the part to a T. Ruffles and lace, buckled shoes, silken calves—real sturdy ones too—he could have stepped from a Rembrandt canvas.

And quite polite. That, however, as you will recognize, was a special occasion.

It was totally unlike the day he encountered the Hollywood set at Harpo Marx' open-door home in 1939; Oscar Levant tells about it deliciously in his "A Smattering of Ignorance."

More correct it would be to say that Hollywood encountered Randolph Churchill, for he took his breath away. Levant, a master of insult himself, says he was the most bumptious, impertinent person you could imagine. Nothing fazed him.

In an air thick with thespian talk Garbo's personal representative turned to him and said: "And you, Mr. Churchill, do you like the theatre?" The answer was an aggressive "No!" In the deadly silence that followed someone managed to enquire, "Why?"

"Because," said Churchill, "you can't smoke in the theatre."

Another touch came when he met Jack Warner of Warner Brothers and immediately monopolized the conversation by telling the latter how he could improve his studio's output. Finally, in exasperation, Warner said heatedly: "Young man, when you're my age—"

"You'll be eighty," interjected Churchill blithely.

Like his famous father in one respect at least, he could not be downed.

Levant admits to a fondness for the young Churchill's breezy impertinence, nevertheless—doubtless because he is that way too—and he does not underestimate his capacities. Churchill, he says, has a really sharp intelligence.

Beverly Baxter pays similar tribute. As a man now of 45 Churchill is a political writer of style, courage—and combativeness. He can hold his own with any of his contemporaries, says Baxter.

He is obviously too robust for the latter, however, who ponders the strange turn of events that finds Sir Anthony Eden, the protégé of the father, become the chopping block of the son. And, irony crowding the stage, Randolph is Eden's cousin by marriage.

In Randolph's eyes, to quote Baxter, Sir Anthony is a weakling, a wobbler, a dilettante and a bungler. England has fallen low indeed when it could find no better successor to the immortal Winston than this "tailored dummy from the foreign office."

Not surprisingly the vendetta of Randolph Churchill against Eden pains Beverly Baxter. Baxter thinks that because of his name the younger Churchill has a duty to his family: not to muzzle his pen but to dilute its rudeness.

One cannot help wondering what the great Churchill himself thinks of his belligerent son.

Complexities of Trade Bloc Plan

By RICHARD L. THOMAS, Daily Colonist Correspondent

EARLY reactions to Mr. Harold Macmillan's exploratory proposals to Commonwealth finance ministers for a Commonwealth plus western European "free trade" zone have not been very satisfactory in Britain, although the broad idea is that comment should be delayed until the proposal is more fully understood.

At first sight it seems to complicate the already exceedingly complex position of Canada in the Commonwealth, and the suggestion has been put to me in several quarters that the British government should concern itself more with the Canadian position than it has done. Up to the present there has been a rather disconcerting indifference.

No one wishes to underestimate the problem involved. The fact that Canadian and American dollars are freely interchangeable makes it impossible for the treasury to differentiate between the two currencies for control purposes. The present idea of a third "trade-power" bloc standing midway between Russia and her satellites and the dollar areas by extending the existing sterling area to western Europe implies a disregard for Canada's unique position as a member of the Commonwealth and a member of the dollar area.

Putting the European free trade idea before the convertibility of sterling into dollars is regarded as putting the cart before the horse and to have been inspired, to some extent at least, by the feeling of frustration and to some extent humiliation that Sir Anthony Eden has concerning the United States policy in the Suez crisis. It is also designed to restore Britain's prestige in Europe, where she is considered to be almost isolationist in her European policy.

Officially it is emphasized that the idea of the chancellor is purely exploratory designed to obtain the reaction of Commonwealth governments before considering an obviously complex problem any further. It is hoped that if Commonwealth countries are interested they may be able to offer some constructive points on implementation. If they are not interested then it is most likely that Mr. Macmillan will forget the whole thing.

At the same time it is recognized that something will have to be done in Europe. Both Germany and France are calling for British action in Europe and a more effective co-operation. The trouble is that both countries have different ideas as to the form any action should take but western Europe generally is at least superficially attracted by the "western Europe plus Commonwealth" integration with a view to free trade within 10 years.

It has been implied that Mr. Macmillan has no intention of asking Commonwealth countries to forego a measure of Empire preference—which may be perfectly feasible whilst customs barriers are being lowered during the 10-year period, but there has been no suggestion how Empire preference could be maintained if the idea of "free trade" materialized.

The government's political opponents imply that Mr. Macmillan has flown his kite in the hope of inflating British prestige following the deflation of its Suez plans and that he is looking ahead much too far when there is much important ground work to be done first. It is strange, for example, to talk of free trade with western Europe when we still need passports to go there. True, we have experimental day trips without passports, but the complications of getting an identity card complete with photographs are very nearly as great as getting a passport.

The first step towards closer international unity is the abolition of passports and visas. We have managed to get rid of some visas, but there are still anomalies whereby holders of British passports do not have to get visas to some countries but holders of Australian and Canadian passports do. In most cases the visa is a revenue-raising instrument. It does not seem unreasonable that free access by individuals should come before free trade in merchandise.

It is also suggested that the convertibility of sterling into dollars is much more important than creating a third "trade-power" bloc which could easily play the Russian game of dividing the West and putting a wedge between Britain and the United States and causing an additional complication as far as Canada is concerned.

Whether or not there is anything really attractive in Mr. Macmillan's plan is for Commonwealth governments to say, but it seems a pity that greater efforts are not being made to secure sterling convertibility. It is tragic that Britain's biggest, most prosperous and nearest partner in the Commonwealth should be more difficult for a Briton to visit than Russia. That is the position today. Roubles are available for a tourist to Russia but dollars are not available for a tourist in Canada.

It seems as though the British government regards dollars as more important than the intangibles of our Commonwealth relationship and that they are strikingly indifferent to the importance of private contact with Canada. Civil servants and business men may be admirable Britons, but personal and cultural exchanges are not less important and it is not creditable that those few private citizens who do go to Canada should be put into the position of poor relations begging dollars and board and lodging from their friends.

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

THE reason night clubs and cafes affording evening entertainment are not more patronized than they are in Canada is, according to a night club proprietor who is a former army comrade of mine, the unhealthy appearance of the majority of regular habitués.

"If I could just persuade a few good healthy-looking young men and healthy-looking girls to come in here," he said, "I could retire in 10 years the place would be so jammed. But just look at them!"

The entertainers, a group of three young men musicians and a girl singer, had just retired from the stand. The night club was reasonably full of people of the various age groups.

"The entertainers," I suggested, "weren't too healthy looking. Kind of gaunt. A little crazy. A few years back, I would have said the girl looked like TB."

"Look at the guests," cut in my friend.

I have been in lots of night clubs in my travels, and I must admit the crowds you see in them are pretty much of a type whether in Winnipeg, New York, London or Coboconk. But it had not occurred to me that they looked unhealthy.

Yet, directed by the proprietor's frosty eye, I realized that the one predominant characteristic of all the guests, whether young, middle-aged or frowzy-elderly, was their lack of a look of health.

"Show me," he demanded bitterly, "one healthy specimen." The women are all made up too much to try to cover a look of fatigue. The men are either flat-chested or pot-bellied. Young and old.

I indicated two or three fairly robust gentlemen.

"Half cut," declared the proprietor. "Get close enough to see the haunted look in their eyes. Nobody haunted is healthy. I sometimes think a night club is nothing but a therapeutic institution for the artificial respiration of a bunch of neurasthenics who are afraid to breathe deep."

"Maybe you're a little off color yourself," I suggested.

"Maybe that's it," said the proprietor. "I think I'll take a couple of weeks off and run down to the States."

"Night clubs?" I supposed.

"Where else?" said he.

Causes of Inflation

(From The Winnipeg Tribune)

SINCE 1945 the average wage in industry in Canada has about doubled—from about $32 to $64 a week. But in terms of real earnings Canadian workers are not twice as well off. In terms of what it would buy in 1945, the Canadian dollar today is worth only 62 cents. That decrease in the value of the dollar is the penalty Canadians have paid for inflation.

Inflation is inevitable, economists tell us, when the increase in output per man-hour fails to keep up with the increase in wage rates. The output per man-hour of Canadians has increased progressively over the post-war years, through improved technology and through the increased investment in plant and equipment per wage earner. But because wages have increased faster than output, prices have risen. Then the resulting jump in the cost of living has caused workers to demand even higher wages, regardless of the fact that production has not increased. The result has been more inflation.

If union leaders will use the index of increase in production per man-hour as the measure of increases in pay, the result will be more prosperity for all. Wage demands that are based on what workers in another country with a much greater market are getting—an argument consistently brought up by the steel workers' union—or on a shortage of labor, or on any consideration other than increased production, can only increase the inflationary trend.

Fun, Fact and Fiction

Yet another doctor has described the ulcer as a badge of success. Those who have one will agree that it's a badge of some sort. You can feel the points.

There is no doubt about TV being educational. It has established "seems like" as part of the grammatical speech of the land.

A man who was enthusiastic about his driving ability was taking a trip with his wife. After travelling a great distance, she consulted a map and told him they were lost. "What's the difference?" he said. "We're making great time."

Letters to the Editor

Spell of the Hills

After reading your very nice article in Sunday's Colonist, "Peace in the Quiet Hills," the last paragraph of which read, "In the clean, clear air on a hilltop many a man has found his Maker, without whom there could have been no dawn for mankind," it brought back to mind a verse my brother wrote at the end of the last war. After living through the blitz in England and feeling the strain and need of a quiet holiday he spent a few weeks in the Highlands of Scotland roaming on the quiet hills, and one day, when the hills and valleys had met their spell, he wrote the following verse:

For God in His infinite wisdom
Set an altar on every hill,
And the simple of soul and the credulous
May worship Him there when they will.

Why Disparage?

I was much impressed with the recent forum on arthritis but thought the disparaging remarks about certain treatments might have been omitted, especially the thin disguise of references to the local ANR (arthritis, neuritis, rheumatism) methods which have undoubtedly not only improved but actually cured many cases, some of which, as the doctors remarked, were in the 25 per cent category which would have got well anyway, but also many that would have grown progressively worse.

I understand this treatment, which incidentally costs about $75 a year, was originated by a qualified pharmacist and the underlying principle seems to be to bring about certain chemical adjustments in the human system, apart from the blood, which I understand is unalterable. I speak as a layman but I know of cases for which the doctors could do nothing apart from prescribing cortisone or some of the pain-killing drugs, which were definitely improved or cured by this treatment, and I think it deserves more recognition and am sure it would stand up under investigation of the case histories of many former arthritics.

Brutal Slaughter

I read with interest a letter from Mrs. Young asking people to get together regarding the awful conditions of the city pound. All the help she will get is sympathy, and that doesn't help very much.

Very few in this city care to do anything to alleviate the suffering of dumb creatures. For instance, a few months ago a big hue and cry went out for a more humane method of slaughtering animals. Many letters were published protesting the antiquated, brutal method that is still used at the slaughter houses; but they were all unheeded. Letters were sent to three MPs, each one shuffling the responsibility onto the other. Finally it was decided to have letters sent to packers suggesting a more humane method of slaughtering be used. How ridiculous! It would cost them a few dollars to make the change-over; and they certainly would not agree to that.

Nothing will be done until a law is passed to make it compulsory to use the same humane method as is used in England and many other countries.

Can you imagine, in these days of advancement, bludgeoning these poor creatures five or six blows before rendering them unconscious, whereas with one blow from the humane pistol they are stunned? Pigs are hung by their hind leg and slaughtered so rapidly they drop into vats of boiling water before they are dead. And we call ourselves Christians! This out-dated, brutal method of slaughtering has been abolished years ago in most countries.

The SPCA has brought this matter up time after time, but their pleas have been ignored. Is there some influential organization which cares enough to take this matter up and demand a more humane method of slaughtering be made compulsory? While we remain so placid and indifferent to the unnecessary suffering of these helpless creatures we are no better than heathens.

K. BARRETT.

Corn Controversy

I am prompted to write because of a case of mistaken identity. Since publication of a letter by a namesake in your paper last weekend I have been the victim of numerous criticisms, and, what is much worse, numerous congratulations. Would my namesake please identify himself more thoroughly if ever he writes on the subject of art again?

Since I have been brought to the pen rather than the brush, I may as well have my say. I was told recently that the modern artists are too prone to verbal attack on the forces of conventionalism. As I can recall, this is only the second letter by a "modern artist" to be directed to the editorial columns of the local press in recent years. And this, like the other one, will not be an attack. The belligerence seems to stem from the conservative camp. Indeed, the other letter I recall was a defence of one of my paintings by a first-rate human being and very virile and able artist, Jan Zach.

Now to my namesake. William, you accused Tony Emery of vituperative remarks. Tony referred to the subjects of paintings, not the paintings or the painters, in his "corn syrup" remark. His remark can be called "corny" justifiably, but not vituperative. Then in the same letter you refer to the serious work (good, bad or indifferent) of serious artists as "large globs of ghastly color." That, I would say, is vituperative.

The aftermath of the letter was very disturbing, because, as a teacher, the last thing I would want to be guilty of would be bias or prejudice without knowledge which the letter seems to indicate. And, as a painter, I would prefer to devote the time spent writing this letter to painting.

WILLIAM D. (BILL) WEST.

Judges Say:

Judge's Charge Faulty

The jury which convicted James Carey, 26, of murder last April had been misdirected by Mr. Justice A. M. Manson, two justices of the B.C. Court of Appeal said yesterday.

Outcome of his trial for the Dec. 7 slaying of Vancouver police constable Gordon Sinclair was thus prejudiced, Mr. Justice James Coady and Mr. Justice H. W. Davey said in written reasons for the granting Monday of a new trial for Carey.

Four of the five justices provided a majority judgment. Mr. Justice Sidney Smith dissented because, he said, the trial judge's charge to the jury "by and large" was "adequate" and there was sufficient testimony at the trial to convict Carey.

Joseph Gordon, 34, whose appeal was dismissed earlier, will carry his appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada. He is scheduled to be hanged Nov. 20. Gordon had been found guilty of firing the fatal shots and Carey of being an accomplice.

Persistent 'Cop' Trails Quarry To Conviction

David Allan, 2092 San Juan Avenue, who told

Saanich police court he sped away from an off-duty policeman because he was afraid of "a trick," was fined $50 yesterday for careless driving.

Const. William Stephenson said he was driving from Western Speedway into town on the Island Highway Sept. 8 at 10:15 p.m. when the accused came up behind him fast, pulled out and passed over a solid line and weaved in and out of traffic at a high rate of speed until reaching the Burnside traffic light.

The constable then pulled abreast of Allan, he said, and from his car said he was a policeman.

Allan said: "Cops—Ha ha—Goodbye." Const. Stephenson testified and pulled away on the gravel shoulder on the right, eventually forcing his way back into traffic. A chase followed in which a Saanich police car later joined, but Allan got away.

Stephenson said he later found Allan in a Lake Hill district restaurant. He said the accused said he had fled because he thought the policeman's car was that of a gang of roughs who had threatened him at the speedway, flashed a knife and on the road back kept bumping into his rear end. Allan told much the same story in court. He said he thought Stephenson's identification of himself was "a trick" and he became "rattled."

Magistrate Hall told him, "The whole of your story just doesn't fit."

Norman Knudson, 2817 Rodney Road, was found guilty of careless driving Oct. 4 and fined $35. His milk truck was in collision with a car on Claremont. Noda Marie Fortin, Sidney, was found guilty and fined $35 for careless driving, and Paul Herbert Ward, 3334 Quadra, was fined $5 for driving over a fire hose.

Errol T. Hunter, 374 Spartan Road, was found guilty of having top soil removed from his Saanich farm without a municipal permit. He was fined $50.

Lorne Butt, 4138 North Road, a truck driver employed by the company which did the removal, was given a suspended sentence for hauling the soil away.

Kenneth Doherty, 2607 Wark, was found guilty of speeding with a logging truck on Gorge Road Oct. 1 and fined $15. For not having mud flaps he was fined $5.

Brian Tennison, 18, of 1575 Clawthorpe, was sentenced in Saanich police court yesterday to three months detainer and six months indeterminate in the young offenders' unit at Oakalla for creating a mischief.

He received the same penalty, to run concurrently, for stealing a radio from the Burnside home in which police said he and companions hurled butcher knives at doors and walls Oct. 2.

Magistrate Henry C. Hall turned down a plea by defence counsel James Proudfoot that a suspended sentence be given.

A charge of assault, laid nearly one year ago, caught up with Gerry Gladstone, 576 Toronto, in city police court yesterday.

He was remanded to today for sentence after pleading guilty to a charge of assault causing bodily harm Nov. 15, 1955.

Complainant Ding Young said he was beaten by Gladstone after his car locked bumpers with another car on a downtown street.

Gladstone has been living out of the city since then.

A naval rating pleaded guilty in city police court yesterday to breaking, entering and theft of some $100 from National Motors Service Station, 1301 Wharf, Sept. 23.

Donald A. Colmer was remanded to Wednesday, and Magistrate Henry C. Hall asked for a probation report.

Det. Alexander Briggs told the court Colmer smashed a window to gain entrance to the premises and took approximately $100 from a cash register, which he forced open with a screwdriver.

Clarice Melva Burnett, 871 Somenos, was found guilty of careless driving Sept. 29, when her car collided with another at Superior and Menzies. She was fined $35 and her licence was suspended.

Leonard R. Charles, Craigflower PO, was fined $35 and his licence was suspended for careless driving. The same penalty was meted out for the same charge to Donald Barker, 1028 Colville. He was fined an extra $35 for having no insurance liability card.

Magistrate Hall dismissed a charge of common assault against Jack L. Vaughan, Camp Gordon Head. Mrs. Margaret Hollinger, 593 John, had charged that he struck her Oct. 7 after she ordered him from the house.

Other persons fined for traffic offences were: Harold R. Robinson, $25, no driver's licence; Alexander Pare, $30, no driver's licence; Gustav Rehner, 3038 Cedar Hill Road, $20, over 30 miles an hour; Douglas George Alger, 1322 Clover, $35, failing to stop at stop sign; Lee Chan, 829 North Park, $25, failing to stop for patrol flags.

Quell German Strikes Secret Police Told

BERLIN (AP)—Communist East Germany's secret police have been ordered to quell slowdown strikes that are gripping key factories, Western sources reported Thursday.

The League of Free Jurists—a Communist organization with numerous contacts in the East—said the secret police have been sent into factories in Magdeburg, a tense centre of labor unrest. Der Tag, an independent West Berlin newspaper, said 2,000 police have been sent into Magdeburg from East Berlin.

The newspaper said the strikes have spread to factories in Erfurt and Karl Marx City (formerly Chemnitz). The newspaper and the free Jurists said the strikes resulted from long standing grievances about low pay and high work quotas. These were the same issues which sparked the East German workers' rebellion of June 17, 1953.

Mrs. Lois Haggen, CCF, was declared by Judge M. M. Colquhoun to be the winner in the Grand Forks-Greenwood riding by 11 votes.

She received 877 to the 866 given to H. C. Dawson, Social Credit, and will succeed her ailing husband, Rupert Haggen, as member for the interior riding.

Views of Sport

By Red Smith

NEW YORK—On a gray, raw day in the final week of the baseball season, with Brooklyn, Milwaukee and Cincinnati clamoring down the home stretch in one of the most exciting pennant races ever, the Dodgers drew 7,000-odd customers to an enormously important game in Ebbets Field. Wherever baseball men gathered, cries of alarm were heard. "A race like this and only 7,000 people?" said one club owner, "maybe there is in the wrong business."

To ears that have been tuned in since the pre-depression 'twenties, the cries have a so familiar ring. Since the beginning of memory, deep thinkers have sought explanations for the decline in baseball's popularity. First it was the mass production of automobiles, carrying the public off to the country on holidays; then radio; then the increasing popularity of participant sports like golf; then the movement of urban populations to suburbia and exurbia; then decrepit parks and lack of parking space; then television; and, of course, there's always been weather.

Strangled by all these influences, baseball's got to die, mustn't it? So in 1956, with miserable crowds of 7,000 at big games, the National League drew 8,500,000 customers.

What would you guess was the league's top figure in pre-television days before the First World War, before owners like Brooklyn's Walter O'Malley were advising fans to stay away from their decadent playgrounds? It was under 3,500,000.

Let's Look at the Record

There was a play on Broadway some years ago called "The Fabulous Invalid." It was about the theatre and how ever since Aeschylus doctors have been pronouncing the theatre dead and partially decomposed. And have you tried for a pair to "My Fair Lady" lately?

To be sure, baseball business touched no all-time peak in 1956. Major league records were established in seasons of close competition during the boom days shortly after the war—10,388,470 for the National in 1947 and 11,150,099 for the American in 1948, when baseball's all-time, one-club mark of 2,620,627 was set by the Indians en route to play-off and pennant.

By comparison, with "normal" years, 1956 was a good one. The unofficial total for the two leagues was 16,541,162. The National League did its best business since 1949, drawing 8,562,987. That was close to a million better than 1955, when no team was able to challenge the Dodgers. With a good race in 1955 and wretched competition in 1956, the American League suffered a decline of 1,054,796.

There it is, laid right out for anybody to see. Offer good competition and lively entertainment, and the customers will buy. In spite of television and automobiles and golf and parking difficulties.

Again the Plastic Dome

This is not to suggest that all is perfect in this best possible of worlds and that owners should sit back on their annuities and pretend they have no business problems. Business is good but costs are extravagantly high. Business could be twice as good.

Since our ball parks were built, the character of neighborhoods and the habits of people have changed. Some parks stand in areas where many persons fear to be abroad after dark. This is no small matter, for the majors play about one-third of their games and draw about half their customers at night.

Once everybody went to the games by trolley. Now thousands drive. Next to a team fighting for the pennant, the most valuable asset an owner can have is ample parking space. To mention a few who don't, there are the Dodgers, the Giants and White Sox and Senators.

This brings up the matter of building new parks. Once the Cornskeys and Shibbes, the Wrigleys and Rupperts, built their own. Today's owners want the community to do the job. Unless Washington soon provides a satisfactory stadium at "a reasonable rental," says Calvin Griffith, he'll move his club out of the capital.

Man with the Golden Trowel

Ordinary guys who have to conduct their businesses by ordinary means are, quite naturally affronted when the baseball owner demands that the city build him a new store, especially when he adds a threatening, "or else." Ordinary guys would only laugh if Macy or Gimbel made such a demand.

Yet it is a reasonable question whether clubs like the Giants or Dodgers or White Sox or Senators could possibly afford to build a modern stadium at existing costs. Lacking authority to condemn property, could they even get land in a suitable location?

Moreover, a major league team does contribute something to community life. A modern stadium is certainly not without value in a big city, and with a ball club available as tenant it is not necessarily a reckless investment.

Ah, there, Mr. Zeckendorf.

WILLIE SHOEMAKER
Currently battling with Willie Hartack for United States riding honors, Willie Shoemaker Thursday became the first jockey in American thoroughbred racing history to earn $2,000,000 in purse money in one year. Leafa, who outshot their opponents, 36-25, and deserved victory, came back sturdily but it wasn't until 3:41 of the first period that Gerry James beat a sound Glen Hall for the first Toronto goal.

Howe's First Goal Gives Wings a Tie; Punchless Hawks Hold Canadiens, 1-1

It took Gordie Howe almost four games to score his first goal of the 1956-57 National Hockey League season, but the veteran rightwinger got it when it counted, with 40 seconds left and Detroit Red Wings trailing Toronto's bustling young Maple Leafs, 3-2.

Howe's goal kept Wings from losing their first game this season and increased their first-place lead to three points over New York Rangers and the Leafs, who pulled into a tie for the runner-up spot with their hard-won point.

In last night's other game, Montreal Canadiens again failed to show the power which carried them to league and lead for the second time in the period. Dick Duff, on a play with George Armstrong and Brian Cullen tied it early in the third period and penalty-killer Ron Stewart put them ahead when he broke away from a gangling attack to blast a shot home from 20 feet.

ROLLINS GOOD
A crowd of 13,557 Montreal fans saw a dull game, featured only by the fine work of goalie Al Rollins and his Chicago defence. Moose Vasko, heralded Chicago rookie defenceman, played right up to his press notices to turn in a sound effort.

Dickie Moore, on a pass from still-goalie Rocket Richard, gave Canadiens the lead in the second period. But Rollins never yielded again and made key saves on ticketed shots by Claude Provost, Boom Boom Geoffrion, Jackie LeClair, Bert Olmstead, Richard, Floyd Curry and Jean Beliveau.

Glen Skov, deflecting a shot from the side of the net, tied it with just over six minutes left. It was only the second goal this season for the rebuilt, but punchless, Hawks. Canadiens, with a win, loss and tie in three games, haven't done much better offensively with only five goals.

The lead held up until what was probably Detroit's last rush. Red Kelly broke out and fed a short pass to Howe, who drilled the puck past rookie-goalie Ed Chadwick.

DESERVED BETTER

'Electronic' Coaching Barred in NFL

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The National Football League is going back to the old-fashioned style of having quarterbacks think for themselves or receive instructions by messengers of foot.

Commissioner Bert Bell announced Thursday that electronic devices used by some of the league teams for communication between the coaches on the sidelines and the quarterback have been outlawed for the balance of the 1956 season.

Bell said the action was taken in a telephone poll of NFL teams and that there wasn't one dissenting voice or even a semblance of an argument on the question.

Even Paul Brown, coach of Cleveland Browns, who first made space cadets of his quarterbacks, was happy to go along with the ban.

And Bell thinks the action will become a permanent one. "All the clubs were co-operative and it is my opinion that at the next annual meeting something will be put in the league book to outlaw the things permanently," he said.

Bell said that the action was initiated because reaction to the use of these coach-to-quarterback radios or transmitters was bad. He said the fans, through the mail and press, radio and television reporters had expressed disapproval.

"I did not read or hear any favorable comments on it," Bell said.

The operation became almost a joke last Sunday when New York Giants claimed they intercepted Brown's orders to his quarterbacks in the Brown-Giants game. According to the Giants they had a coach stationed on the sidelines with an interpreter set and relayed the Cleveland plays to their defence.

Speaking Briefly

Japanese Fans Don't Mind; Give Dodgers Big Welcome

It doesn't seem to matter to Japanese baseball fans that they have been booked to see the world series also-rans. Thousands of flag-waving fans lined the 12-mile route from Haneda airport to downtown Tokyo despite a drizzle Thursday night and accorded a rousing welcome to the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Last year the reception was the same for the New York Yankees. But the rabid Japanese fans still haven't been able to see the world champions in action.

The Yankees hooked their tour to Japan last winter, then won the first two games of the 1955 world series before losing to the Dodgers. It worked in reverse this season, the Dodgers winning the first two games but finally losing to the New Yorkers.

But the Japanese apparently don't mind seeing the runners. Baseball interest was at a peak and huge crowds were expected to turn out to the 20-

Tilicum defeated Eagles, 9-3; Elks downed ANAF Vets, 8-4; and Pro Pats beat Britannia, 8-4. Monday night in the opening games of the 1956 Victoria and District Snooker Association inter-club competition.

Cup Clash Saturday

Brodie's Bakery and Canadian Scottish meet at Royal Athletic Park Saturday afternoon in the third game of the annual Victoria and District Football League McGavin Cup knockout competition.

Winner of the game will advance to the semi-finals of the eight-team competition, held annually to raise money for the league injured players' fund.

Two clubs, Punjab United and Butler Brothers, have already qualified for the semis with opening-game victories.

In league play Sunday, Butlers meet Punjab United at Central Park; Gorge Hotel, who share first place with Butlers, take on Tillamums at Heywood Avenue Park; and Heaneys clash with Esquimalt at MacDonald Park.

Als' Quarterback Holds Nine Marks

Records Fall When Etcheverry Passes

By DICK BACON
MONTREAL (UPI)—Give slender Sam Etcheverry another five years and he'll own every passing record in the book. Already the former Denver nine major marks while pitching for the Montreal Alouettes of the Big Four that are unsurpassed on either side of the border.

In five years since Etcheverry (coach Peashead Walker calls him his "Sears and Roebuck quarterback" because he picked him out of the collegiate record book) has been tossing footballs in Canada, he has rocketed to fame on the strength of his accurate right arm.

GOOD RECEIVERS
"But don't forget," he says, "I've had some awful good receivers."

SAM ETCHEVERRY

True, but so did every other passer of note including another alumnus of the Washington Redskins—Sid Luckman of the Chicago Bears, Otto Graham of the Cleveland Browns and Norm Van Brocklin of the Los Angeles Rams. And yet Etcheverry has pitched his way to marks that none of these illustrious contemporaries has been able to reach.

It took Baugh 16 seasons to lose his way to passing immortality. Were Etcheverry to continue at the same pace he has maintained during his first five years of pro ball—and he's only 26—he will not only eclipse every mark Baugh ever set, but all passers as well.

Consider these figures as a barometer of the talents of the modest lad from Albuquerque against the best the National Football League has to offer since its inception in 1922. During his 16-year career with the Redskins Baugh at-tempted 3,016 passes, completed 1,709 for a total of 22,083 yards (127 miles) and 187 touchdowns. Those are imposing marks that no other NFL quarterback has, and probably never will ap-proach. But in less than a third of the time it took Baugh to compile his records, Etcheverry has made an imposing ap-proach.

Montreal's Sam has connected on 980 of 1,753 passes for a total of 16,114 yards (9.16 miles) and 109 scoring aeri-als.

Etcheverry's lifetime aver-age gain per completed pass is 16.4 yards compared to Baugh's 12.9. The Canadian record books fall to show when Etcheverry last missed throwing at least one scoring pas sa game but it hasn't been in the last 27 games. The best mark the NFL can offer is 23 by Cecil Isbell, 19 by Luckman, and Baugh had two runs of 10 games in which he threw for touchdowns.

On a seasonal basis the Canadian hotshot wins hands down. He has thrown the most passes (400), completed the most (234) this year in 11 games and still has three to go, gained the most yards (3,995 this year), thrown the most touchdown passes (30—equalled last year by Toronto's Tom Dublin), gained the most yards in a single game (606), and averaged the most yards per com-pletion (17.5).

Only Luckman has thrown more TD passes in a single game—seven to Sam's six and Baugh's season completion average of 703 in 1945 is consid-erably more accurate than as he puts his head down and plows ahead into enemy tack-lers. But that's the way Mont-real's "Sears and Roebuck" quar-terback plays the game.

To all of which he modestly asks: "Where would I be with-out my receivers?"

Patterson and Joey Pal, who catch those passes and the other guys who make sure I have time to throw them."

Move Club or Stay Put? Senators Decide Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Move or stay put? Washing-ton Senators decide today.

Directors of the Washing-ton American League baseball club vote this afternoon—in what is expected to be a tempestuous session—on whether to move to Los Angeles, San Francisco, Louis-ville, Ky., or continue here.

President Calvin Griffith is trying to engineer the shift. Reports say that Griffith—who wants to switch to Los Angeles—can swing a ma-jority of the five-man board his way. H. Gabriel Murphy, a director who owns 40 per-cent of the stock, has threat-ened court action to keep the Senators here.

Calvin Griffith, adopted son of the late Clark Griffith, who ran the Senators for a half-century, conceded that mov-ing the franchise will be a long and hard struggle. He'll have just 12 days to wrap up the deal before the Oct. 31 deadline for transfers effec-tive for the 1957 season.

Griffith must also negotiate a contract with Los Angeles, if the decision is to go to that city. (2) come to an agreement with the Pacific Coast League and with Phil K. Wrigley to buy his Los Angeles Coast League fran-chise and then (3) obtain American League approval. Also, there's the likelihood of delaying court action by Murphy.

It was also reported Thurs-day that a Minneapolis major league committee headed by Charles Johnson, executive sports editor of the Minne-apolis Star and Tribune, will file an offer today to move the Washington franchise to Minneapolis.

Girl in Grave, Hearing Told

By Colonial Staff Reporter

ALBERNI—For the first time in three of four years in the Alberni Valley, one of those accused of grave-robbing was admitted yesterday that a girl had been buried in the cemetery.

Crown counsel Robert Owsen admitted from William Nelson that "there was a girl in there." I don't know which one it was." The statement came during the preliminary hearing of 17-year-old Joan Gibson, at the conclusion of which Magistrate Thomas Patterson continued her trial in court.

David Windsor Ferguson, under cross-examination by Mr. Owsen, yesterday admitted that the girl had been buried in the cemetery. He said she had come from a broken home in which the father was a drunkard and the mother was a prostitute. He said she had been found in the cemetery by a woman who had been charged with committing an indignity to a human body by digging a hole in the ground.

Jailers Say Food 'Looks Good', But Girl, 17, Just Doesn't Eat It

ALBERNI—Charges by 17-year-old Joan Gibson that she had been served poor food in local Alberni and were officially disputed yesterday.

Miss Gibson has been fed better than standard prisoner meals, it was claimed by officials of the restaurant which caters to the jail.

She was reported to have had eggs, toast and coffee for breakfast, roast beef, potatoes and greens for lunch, and buttered toast, coffee, tea, dinner and supper.

LOST NINE POUNDS—Miss Gibson has lost nine pounds while in jail.

Friends of Miss Gibson stated she never had a big appetite. She would go through the day with a hamburger and coffee.

$100 Million For Culture?

OTTAWA (CP) — The government would be charged in the 1965-66 budget with the task of providing $100 million for the cultural program, it was announced today.

The money, to be paid in 1965-66, would be used to fund the cultural program, which would be administered by the Department of Cultural Affairs.

Raw Milk

Farmers To Meet Chetwynd

Representatives of approved raw milk dairy farms on Vancouver Island will meet Agriculture Minister Ralph Chetwynd this afternoon to discuss the proposed regulation of milk production standards.

A spokesman said last night that the government is not yet ready to announce the details of the proposed regulation, but that it is being considered.

He said approved raw milk farmers must produce milk with a lower bacteria count and other standards than those for pasteurized milk. The government is not yet ready to announce the details of the proposed regulation, but that it is being considered.

"They have put us in a position where we are not sure of the future," said the spokesman. "We are not sure of the future of the industry, and we are not sure of the future of the government's policy."

Island dairy farmers said earlier this week that the proposed regulation would mean a loss of $100,000 to $200,000 a year for each farm. They said they would like to see the government's policy on raw milk.

New Songs By Pringle Aid Orphans

A bedroom for girls at the P.C. Protestant Orphanage in Victoria will receive new furnishings soon, partly because of the latest songs written by ORPWA star, Norm Pringle.

All proceeds from the recording of "The A-B-C's" and "The Little Girl Who Lives in the Woods" will be used to buy the furnishings. The orphanage was opened six months ago.

Administered by a local society, the orphanage has a staff of 10 and a budget of $10,000. It provides a home for girls and boys who are in need of a home.

PROCEEDS $200 — A list of the new furnishings is available at $200. The list includes a bed, a dresser, a chair, a table, and a lamp.

Mr. Pringle's first song, "Santa Claus Is In the Town," was written six months ago. It has been a great success, and it has helped to raise money for the orphanage.

get more than just freeze-up protection...

PRESTONE BRAND ANTI-FREEZE

TAKES OVER WHERE OTHERS STOP!

It's the policy plus the agent that gives you the best insurance

When you deal with an independent agent or broker you are dealing with a man who is building his business on the service he gives you. His interest is in you.

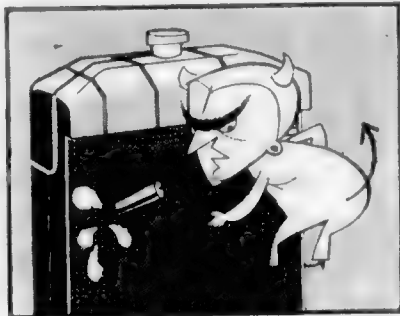

Because he is free to represent more than one insurance company he can select the coverage most suited to your needs.

It pays to deal with an independent Agent or Broker.

THE INSURANCE AGENTS' ASSOCIATION OF BRITISH COLUMBIA

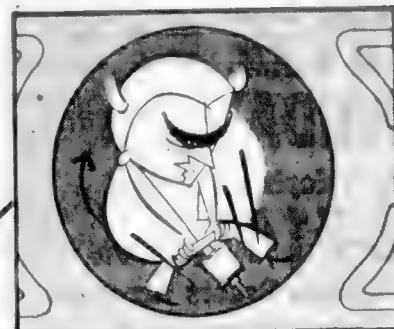

Look for this symbol when you buy insurance or general insurance.

Corrosion in your radiator cuts through metal—causes leaks. "Prestone" Anti-Freeze guards against ruinous corrosion. Are you sure with other brands of anti-freeze? Cost of repairing radiator... $10.00 to $15.00

Incomplete freeze-up protection can cause untold damage like a cracked cylinder block. "Prestone" Anti-Freeze gives you guaranteed freeze-up protection. Are you sure with other brands of anti-freeze? Cost of repairing or replacing block... $100.00 to $850.00

A corroded, clogged cooling system causes overheating... and that means excessive cylinder wear. "Prestone" Anti-Freeze allows your engine to run at proper temperatures for least wear. Are you sure with other brands of anti-freeze? Cost of reconditioned engine... $250.00 to $325.00

If you had to add anti-freeze last winter, it may have been because of foaming loss. "Prestone" Anti-Freeze does not foam. Are you sure with other brands of anti-freeze? Cost of adding even 2 quarts of anti-freeze... $2.00 to $2.50

Rubber hose connections also need protection. The Polyr Film inhibitor in "Prestone" Brand Anti-Freeze coats all cooling system parts—including rubber—gives the protection required. Are you sure with other brands of anti-freeze? Cost of new rubber hose connections... $8.00 to $12.00

Rust and corrosion can cause serious trouble in the radiator as well as the engine block. A rust-choked radiator stops cooling... causes overheating. "Prestone" Anti-Freeze guards against rust! Are you sure with other brands of anti-freeze? Cost of clearing or replacing clogged radiator... $9.00 to $75.00

Remember these pictures when somebody tells you all makes of anti-freezes are the same!

It could be an expensive winter unless you use the anti-freeze that protects against all the cooling system hazards your car's engine will have to face. Almost any anti-freeze gives you just freeze-up protection. But "Prestone" Brand Anti-Freeze does far more... takes over where others stop. It conditions your cooling system, guards against ruinous corrosion, helps reduce engine wear, helps keep your car running smoothly and efficiently. So ask for "Prestone" Brand Anti-Freeze. See that you get it. And if somebody tells you all anti-freezes are the same... remember how much it can cost you if all you buy is just freeze-up protection!

Great Variety Possible At Bread and Butter Tea

We went to a tea other day given to raise funds for a certain charity. And now that so many organizations and clubs of one kind or another have reopened for the winter I'd like to tell you about it. It's not exactly a new idea but a very sound one. It was nothing but a party on a grand scale. The committee had arranged a certain number of contributions to donate an interesting loaf of bread any kind at all, and I wish you could have seen the beautiful collection. There must have been at least twenty varieties and the table looked delightful.

Everyone enjoyed them and wanted to try a piece of this and a piece of that and most of us had trouble controlling the appetite. Such a large tea as that is quite easy on the hostess financially and otherwise. The preparations are simple for all that is required are cutting boards and very sharp knives for two or three who slice the loaves. Then butter, which has been softened to room temperature, is spread on by one or two more helpers and that's all.

For the sake of our young cooks may I suggest the only sure way to test for the "done-ness" of this type of recipe is to buy yourself a wire cake tester or put a clean straw into your bread. If tender, no straw does not come out perfectly clean more baking is needed.

Along these lines but they will have to wait for another day. Someone has just asked if there were anything else to eat besides bread. The answer is yes, it was a bread and butter tea.

TRICK OF THE DAY

When making a loaf, use well leaving the usual loops. When the loaf is washed the water will soak into the loaf and be almost unnoticeable.

A LOVELIER YOU

By Mary Sue Miller

HANDY TIP. For hands that do office work here are a few extra-special suggestions.

1. Nightly coat hands with polish sealer. That guards against chipping.

2. To prevent undue breakage always avoid talon length nails.

3. In the office, keep hands coated with silicon lotion or cream. These preparations ward off deep staining by inks, carbons or just plain grime.

4. Should polish chip during office hours, mend it with lipstick and quick-dry sealer. Just paint chip with lipstick and cover entire nail with sealer.

Isn't that just like a man? You can be sure this spilled water won't get wiped up till morning. ♦ But take heart, ladies! With Stride—a magnificent new Johnson's Wax—on your floors, a damp cloth whisks away spill spots, even if left for hours!

SPILL ON IT, SPLASH ON IT, PUNISH IT
— JUST AN EASY ONCE-OVER RESTORES
THE LUSTRE, WITHOUT RE-WAXING!

No wonder the swing is to Johnson's Stride! For in Stride women have found at last a self-polishing wax that actually protects like paste wax. You just spread Stride on—it dries to a rich wax lustre. And from then on, spills wipe up without a trace, even after they've dried. A little buffing erases scuff marks.

Your usual damp mopping actually brightens the lustre. Stride brings back Stride's beauty again and again, without re-waxing! So you wax less often. That means fewer of those back-breaking scrub-ups before waxing, too. That's what Stride can mean to you! Why don't you put the swing to Johnson's Stride?

MUST HAVE MY MONEY IN ADVANCE!

ADVANCE? WHAT'S THE MATTER DONT YOU TRUST ME?

SURE, ME TRUST YOU! BUT ME TAKE NO 'MPT' CHANCES! LAST MAN ME GUIDE SAFE GOT KILLED AND ME NEVER DID GET MONEY!

A.D. Scott McEwan

Fun-Loving King To Become Priest

BANGKOK — Jazz-loving King Phumiphon Aduldet, handsome, 28-year-old monarch of Thailand, will enter the Buddhist priesthood for 15 days. His head will be shaved and he will receive from Queen Sirikit a saffron robe. Then he will walk through Bangkok to the temple. The king's "spiritual pilgrimage" is expected to increase his stature in the eyes of his people.

LONDON — Former film star Greta Garbo dropped in at No. 10 Downing Street to have tea with Lady Eden. The prime minister was absent. Miss Garbo wore a drab coat over a grey dress and no make-up.

ISLE OF PONZA, Italy — Jacques Piccard says he descended 12,138 feet in his father's banana-shaped bathyscap and touched the bottom of the "Tyrrhenian ditch" in the Mediterranean.

MOSCOW — Russian ballerina Galina Ulanova of the Bolshoi Theatre says the English are an "unaffected, enthusiastic, spontaneous and above all cordial people." Her observations were published in a Soviet newspaper.

NEW YORK — A red-haired beauty is held on charges of operating an internationally favored callgirl racket. She was identified as Nelda Bogacki, alias Nelda Bogart, 32. John A. Keefe, assistant U.S. attorney, said Miss Bogacki employed girls from Haiti, Cuba and Italy to entertain customers at fees of $25 to $125.

OTTAWA — Donald Fleming, 51, M.P., Toronto-Eglinton, is expected to declare himself today as a candidate for the Conservative party leadership.

THE HAGUE, Holland — Queen Juliana plans a brief vacation in Italy which may coincide with a government statement on the crisis in Holland's royal household.

HONG KONG — Prime Minister H. S. Suhrawardy of Pakistan arrived in Peiping yesterday. He was greeted by 7,000.

CANBERRA, Australia — Government officials have turned down the offer of a Canadian woman, Mrs. Nancy Bell, Vancouver, to donate 100 Canadian turkeys and 100 Canadian birds to the Australian birds.

WASHINGTON — French ambassador Herve Alphand was asked yesterday how American girls compare with French girls. The ambassador replied: "I want to make a little more exploration in this matter and perhaps can reply in a month."

Greta Garbo replied: "I want to make a little more exploration in this matter and perhaps can reply in a month."

Two-Time Loser Bikeless Again

A bicycle thief has struck at a 14-year-old Victoria boy for the second time in six months.

Robert Rogers, 643 Moss, whose bicycle was taken in May as he set up pins in a bowling alley, lost its replacement this week while in classes at Central Junior High School.

This latest bicycle was given to Robert by an elderly Victoria man after he read in the Daily Colonist of the first theft.

Robert, who became a Colonist carrier boy two months ago, has borrowed a small bicycle from a friend for use in newspaper delivery only until the other is recovered. The stolen bicycle is an older make, bearing the name "Redbird," dark red in color, bearing carrier baskets and with the licence number 3326. Anyone with information about this bicycle is asked to telephone Mrs. Alec Rogers at 2-4611.

The East-Asian flying frog has been seen to soar from branch to branch.
